In a society rooted in science and technology man needs a stabilizing force to which he can turn for guidance and hope. Caught up in a fast-moving world, he aches for a moment of solitude, a time of separation and silent introspection. As a unique individual he needs to develop all phases of his personality; too much emphasis in developing one area can upset the balance necessary to make him a well-adjusted human being. As he grows in knowledge of himself he must become aware of others. But the mere realization is not enough; it demands a reaching out. Through inter-personal relationships man must ultimately arrive at a consciousness of his God, for God is present in society.

The Church is the instrument which assists man in his growth towards God. As a child, each individual receives his first introduction to his Creator at Baptism, the sacrament of re-birth. At this time he receives the graces which will enable him to later give of himself unreservedly. As an adolescent, who has achieved maturity through Holy Eucharist and Confirmation, he comes to terms with himself, making his first effort to become an active member of a Christian society. Inspired by his interior knowledge and motivated by his love he finds fulfillment in God through his Church. This understanding provides him with the strength to accept his life and the courage to see Christ in every situation. Thus, grounded and rooted in Christ, he possesses a practical faith linked with hope and unselfish love.

After one hundred years of growth based on faith and determination, the Diocese of Harrisburg continues to represent the Church in our lives. As a group of people united through brotherhood and striving towards a common goal, we possess the courage to face new horizons and accept the re-occurring challenge to live a truly Christian life. In our struggle to reach out to others, we turn to the Church, in the person of our Bishop for guidance. He acts as our advisor as we seek to bring Christ into our lives and thus, to others. Therefore, we of Trinity wish to dedicate the 1968 Green and White to Bishop George L. Leech in thanksgiving for his sincere interest and assistance in all our endeavors and in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the Diocese of Harrisburg.

Growth is a mystery. Demanded by life's cycle, it begins without man's knowledge and ceases despite his will. It works at fulfilling promises. It is a force that transforms awkwardness into grace, indefiniteness into beauty, and weakness into strength. Dramatic as a flower's opening, exciting as a child's first steps, it is creation extended—God's loving touch renewing the face of the earth.

Growth's thrust is towards life and fulfillment, but fading flowers and dying men attest that it has its limits. Growth's call is persistent and powerful, yet seed on stone, water on sand, or faith without love, proclaim its dependence upon environment. To man, reaching for immortality, it is an enigma. Once in motion it shatters attempts to alter its established pace; once reversed, it thwarts all efforts to restore its creative surge; once stopped, it mock's man's striving to reactivate it. Only faith can negate its frustrations, for it reveals that supernatural growth has its own patterns and dimensions. Meanwhile, reasoning man, in testing growth's limits, invests certain of his institutions with the permanence eluding him as an individual.

The year, the Diocese of Harrisburg, celebrating a century of existence, commemorates a miracle of growth. Despite unfavorable, even hostile initial environment, it has brought God and man closer by presenting Christ to men eager for trust, love, and immortality. As loyal members of this dynamic family, the faculty and students of Trinity High School rejoice in the fact that we are participants in this mystery of sustained growth and vitality. While proud of what we are contributing today, we are grateful to God for the dedication of the priests, religious, and laymen who established our diocese and to those who sustain it in these difficult times.

Members of the Class of 1968, especially honored by this yearbook, have experienced the pains and frustrations related to growth. Perhaps more important, they have helped establish an environment favorable to their school's continued development. As their principal, I thank these growing young men and women for what they have given to Trinity. To a significant degree, our present spirit and values have sprung from their willingness to give—a fact confirmed by the Middle States Association evaluation completed this year.

In five years I have had the opportunity to measure growth in many ways. For example, I have watched a seedling in the courtyard adjoining my office flourish into a sturdy tree. Scriptural echoes of symbolic olive plants, fruitful vines, and just men who flourish like the palm tree, relate this botonical growth to what has happened to this institution and the persons who enliven it. May Almighty God, Who always creates, sanctifies, fills us with life, and bestows upon us all good things, enable our graduates to continue to grow in wisdom and grace in the challenging years before them.

. . . I have always felt that football teaches young men something about life. It teaches them to sacrifice and earn what they receive. It demonstrates, although indirectly, the difference between heart-power and the desperation of flower-power. It gives them that degree of mental maturity that puts them at their best when the going gets the roughest. It teaches love and respect for teammates and opponents. It teaches them to respect the team as a whole, but at the same time to realize that the whole is only as strong as its parts.

I wish all teachers and students could have seen the team leaving the bus after their greatest effort of the season. It would be a conservative estimate if I said that 90% of you never witnessed such sacrifice, such unrestrained, unselfish giving of time and effort. Indeed, they played to prove to you, and all those interested, that Trrinity teams were no longer plagued by mediocrity and despair. As I watched them leave the bus, I felt a deeper love and respect than I ever did for a team, either as a player or coach. I can forget the blood and mud on their uniforms, but never, as long as I live, will I forget the looks and the tears on their faces. For the first time in my life, I realized what is meant by the saying—It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game.

One of the finest institutions man has, to develop character, maturity and proper methods of competition, is athletics. If used properly, it can develop the whole man and create situations that will help him react under adverse conditions. Too often the immediate reward desired by the impetuous human being is not forthcoming but rather the answer to the question "What am I getting out of it?" will not be answered for many years. The immediate satisfaction of crowd reaction to a nice play or to scoring the winning field goal will echo in our minds for a short time, but the ability to react under the pressures of a game should stay with us as long as we live, and provide us with the ability to react under the pressures of life.

Sacrifice, hard work, self-discipline and selflessness are key ingredients in molding five individuals into the complex machinery of a team. I feel all members of the 1967–68 basketball squad possessed these qualities and made the team what it was. It would have been easy to fold after the slow beginning we had, but pride, perseverance and the development of confidence made them continue to work hard and become a credit to their school, their families, and themselves. I commend these men for accepting the challenge of stepping out of the world of a boy and into the world of a man.

THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1968

Through memory, the living bridge between past and present, we cross the ocean of time and re-live the moments when we were children, learning through our mistakes how to become properly formed young adults. We alone could not undertake the tremendous task of structuring the values which will serve us as guidelines for future undertakings. The time and efforts of many have helped to mold a mass of individuals into one body, united in purpose, heading toward a definite goal. Each lesson learned became a plank in the bridge, lessening the gap between darkness and truth. By means of this bridge, which we have crossed together, we will remain united to Trinity as we assume the task of further developing the skills which she has taught us.

Just as the sun has many rays, but one light; and as a tree has many boughs, but one strength derived from its roots; and as when many streams flow from one spring, through a multiplicity of waters is seen defused in bountifulness as they gush forth—still unity is preserved in the source.

Acknowledgements

The 1968 GREEN and WHITE Staff wishes to express its gratitude to all those who have contributed to the publication of our yearbook.

We thank our administration and faculty for their patient cooperation, especially:

Brother E. Andrew, for his encouraging message to the graduates and his continued support of our work;

Sister Carol Ann, our advisor, for her endless patience and help;

Sister Miriam Kathleen, and the Art Club, for providing a meaningful and beautiful symbol for our 1968 theme:

We also wish to thank our office staff for their generous help;

Mr. William Buser, of William's Studio, for excellent formal portraits;

Mr. Jack Winand, of William's Studio, who gave his time and talent to take the other activity pictures;

Mr. Neal Layser, representative of the American Yearbook Company, for his advice and generous assistance.

Hail Trinity, O Trinity,
We pledge our loyalty forever,
"Ad summum bonum", Always to guide us,
Teach us to grow in truth and dignity;
In days of challenge give us light,
To stalwart stand for right,
Your green-white banners proudly wave,
In praise of Thee O Trinity.

The shamrock is our symbol true,
A three-fold unity portraying;
God, the father, Son and Spirit
Leading us onward to eternity;
And when we leave your sheltering halls,
Your image we shall wear,
Steadfast Christians, loyal and true;
To change our world we dare to do.

" . . . Our words must be judged by our deeds; and in striving for a lofty ideal we must use practical methods; and if we cannot attain all at one leap, we must advance towards it step by step, reasonably content so long as we do actually make some progress in the right direction."

Theodore Roosevelt

The woods are lovely, dark, and deep,
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep
And miles to go before I sleep.

Robert Frost
